Chaplain (Colonel) Janet Yarlott Horton, US Army (Ret) was one of the first women Chaplains in the US Military, and the first woman assigned as a Division or Corps Chaplain. She was on duty in the Pentagon on 9/11, and accompanied the medical teams attending to casualties, praying with them as the EMT/Docs treated them.

Meeting intense resistance as a woman in the early years of service, she persevered through love in the face of hate and through her sense of God's guidance. In this inspiring and powerful talk, Horton will speak from experience as to how a deeper sense of "love embracing all mankind can bring healing, can unite hearts and can help us bring a sense of peace in times that seem to be challenging."
